Work begins on southbound lanes
through Portland

MaineDOT contractors are now starting work on I-295 southbound lanes from the Maine Turnpike spur in Falmouth through Portland to the tollbooths in Scarborough. Overnight paving is being done, with one-lane closures from 7 PM to 6 AM Sunday night through Saturday morning. As work progresses, overnight or temporary daytime closures of certain exits in Portland will occur. Bridgework is ongoing day and night, including weekends, and while one-lane closures will be in effect overnight, two lanes will remain open during daylight hours.

Meanwhile, work continues on I-295 northbound lanes from Falmouth to Freeport, with overnight one-lane closures 8 PM to 6 AM Saturday night through Friday morning. Some bridgework – especially on the Royal River Bridge in Yarmouth – requires one-lane closures during daytime hours on weekends.

This roadwork will result in a smoother, safer road for us all.
